National Guard
Has All-Day Drill Sunday

An all day drill of practical exercises and off-the-job training was held Sunday at the Bay St. Louis Armory of the National Guard.

The local Guard which was organized here Oct. 28, 1954 has about 85 men enlisted. On Sunday better than 90% were present for the drill.

This was the first of this type of all day drill to be held by the Guard here, but plans are that there will be quarterly drills of this type which will replace two of the Monday evening drills which are weekly features of the Guard.

Parts of the details of the drill were construction work, which constituted the building of racks and sheds. Transportation, involving the hauling of dirt, and earth-moving, clearing of lot back of St. Stanislaus Stadium. New members received instructions in range training.

Mass was said by Reverend Hugh Taylor at 11:30 a.m. for the men present, and lunch was served in the Armory Building.

Lt. Irving S. Kingston was in charge of operations.

Visitors for the day were Major Humphrey U. S. A. Unit Advisor from Gulfport and Captain Olan Rayburn, USA, BN Executive Officer, also of Gulfport.

Sgt. William J. Adams, Administrative Specialist and Master Sgt. Jack Lee, Maintenance Technician for the Guard here. They are the only two men on full time duty.

First Book Review Planned for Wed., February 29th

first series of book reviews under the auspices of the County Memorial Library will be held at three p.m. on Wednesday, February 29th, at the Library. Mrs. Tom Garner has recently come to live permanently in her home in St. Louis.

Mrs. Robert is a personal friend of Mrs. and the library board feels they are offering a real treat this review. Admission is through the series of three for $2.00, or individual for $1.00. The public is invited and tickets may be had at the door.

Three members of the Society of St. Clare received communion in a 5 o'clock Mass. Prize was $3.00 box of chocolates. It was won by Mrs. Villere. He also urged attendance.

Mass, directed by Harry Lynch, was won by Martin Trebil.

Father Keuper delivered a short talk on the duty of Holy Name.

CHORUS TO ENTER CONTEST MARCH 2, 3

Chorus will go to Pascagoula, Mississippi, to participate in a choral contest which will be held March 2 and 3. The contest will take place in the Pascagoula High School. The entry fee will be $20 per student and $20 for assemblies and quartets. The chorus will sing "Revere" by Claude Debussy and "Open Thy Heart" by George Bizet. After the group had started practicing these selections, the group received a notice from Mr. James Bishop that the songs were too difficult.

Mr. Bishop is a graduate of LSU with an M.M. Degree. He is head of all music at Moss Point both band and choral director. He also is a past president of MMEA and has been in charge of the choral clinic which includes the required numbers to be sung by the chorus.

But since the girls have started the songs and practically know both of the songs well, Mr. LaNasa, chorus director, stated that the students would like to take the risk and enter the songs in the contest.

By vote of the Holy Name Society approved the incorporation of the Ushers Society into the Holy Name organization.

The Society decided by vote to sponsor the motion picture "I Believed This Glory." This film is a Hollywood production 16mm, in color, with sound and will be presented during the early part of Holy Week. Exact time and place will be announced later.

Joseph Colson, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 201, sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Clare's Parish, reports excellent reception. This troop is being formed on a non-denominational basis and has a membership of 45. An Explorer Scout group is being formed for boys 14 years or older. The troop is fortunate in having four assistant Scout Masters. Among these is John Kleinsmith, a man with considerable experience in Scout Work. A most inspiring talk was given by the invited speaker, Edward M. Sternberg, District Claims Agent for the L&N Railroad, located at Gulfport. Sternberg has been active in promoting Holy Name Societies for 39 years, from his entering the society as a junior member in Louisville, Ky., in 1917. He has assisted in the formation of Holy Name Societies in Birmingham, Montgomery, Biloxi, Gulfport and along the entire Coast. His talk was based on the history of the Holy Name Society from its inception some 700 years ago to the present date. The address was an inspiration to all.

SENATOR L. C. LADNER SPEAKS TO 400 SCHOOL LEADERS IN JACKSON

State Senator L. C. Ladner spoke to some 400 school heads in Jackson last Tuesday at the Hotel E. Lee Hotel to protest school laws passed during the 1963 extraordinary session of the State Legislature.

Ladner states that, "the state is no nearer ready for super-consolidation than for integration of its schools."

Self-government in Miss. is on the down-grade. Future generations will have less opportunity to govern themselves than do we unless the people of the state realize they are doomed.

What we need to do is give the schools back to the people of the state."

A talk on taxes by Senator L. C. Ladner was held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Miller on Dunbar Ave.

Mrs. Menard, an authority on her subject, gave information on the "proper" planning, pricing, feeding and general cultivation of the rose. Mrs. Menard further advised the members present on the hardest varieties best suited to this climate, and the most prolific bloomers.

The business meeting which followed the address given by the guest speaker was briefly conducted by Mrs. Waldo Otis, club president.

Arrangements of cut flowers, potted plants and specimen blooms were submitted by members for

GREENVILLE MILLS PLANT

For a state which was almost exclusively agricultural until the mid thirties, Mississippi has come a long way in its efforts to provide processing plants for its raw materials and jobs for its large surplus labor reserves. In the period 1940 to 1953 manufacturing employment in plants with eight or more workers has risen from 56,872 to over 100,000, while manufacturing wages have increased from $44,000,000 annually to $220,000,000 last year.

There is much to be gained if the progressive and forward-looking man and woman uses his credit wisely to build for the future. Sound planning is the ground work for profitable enterprise in the years ahead of us. You are cordially invited to consult with us about your future plans.

WALDO MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH - KILN

By Mrs. C. Oubre, Publicity

The people of the Kiln Community have something to really thank God for, a few years back services were held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Rohm, then eventually they built a small frame building, and today with their membership steadily growing they have a concrete brick building over half completed being constructed by the male members of the church.

To add to their many blessings they recently licensed Brother Harvey Thomas to preach. With his sincerity and humility it is a privilege to hear him deliver a sermon.

Last but not least, Reverend Bob McNamee is to be commended on his wonderful work in bringing souls to Christ, his efforts surely have not been in vain.

It is wonderful to see the support he is given by the men of the Church.

Every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. one service is held.

FORESTRY

NOTES

By MARION PARKER
Area Forester

Tuesday of last week Area Forester, Marion Parker held a tree planting demonstration with the older boys of Leetown School. Parker first discussed with the group about the big fires which occurred in January. He told them of the number of acres burned and the total damage done to the timber crop and the soil of all the timber areas burned.

Next Parker told the group how tree planting can be easy. First of all think where you will plant the seedlings:

1. On land now in cultivation, but not suited for row crops or pastures.

2. In old fields not in use.

3. In open woods.

4. In heavy cut over woods.

5. In woods that need to change to different kinds of trees.

Second, to be considered is the site and species:

Planting is least worth while on soils too poor for rapid growth of pine and on bottom land soils on which pines may be crowded out by fast growing hardwoods. Slash and lob lolly are the easiest to raise. Slash appears to suffer more wind than the lob, but is less seriously injured by fires and insects. Longleaf is little more difficult to grow. It's slow in getting high growth. They must be protected from hogs, and is more susceptible to needle disease. Longleaf is less easily injured by fire than any of the other Southern pines. If in doubt which species to plant it is well to mix two species.

Third—How to obtain tree seedlings:

1. Make application with the County Agent or the Area Forester before November 1st.

2. Each land owner is entitled to 2,000 free seedlings plus shipping charges from the Nursery.

3. Additional seedlings may be obtained for $3.50 plus shipping charges. It is also wise to consider labor before taking on a big job.

Fourth—Taking care of seedlings before planting. Seedlings to be kept out for 2 or 3 days, leave in bundles and moisten the roots often. Seedlings to be kept out for more than 4 days, heel in, cover with dirt and water them at least once a day.

Fifth—Correct and Incorrect planting depths:

At some depth or half inch deeper than grown in the nursery.

2. Too deep of roots will get bent, and some time die.

3. Too shallow and roots get exposed, will also die.

Sixth—There are a number of good spacing requirements which can be used. Rows planted with 6 x 6 will give you 1,210 trees per acre, trees planted 7 x 7 will give you 889 seedlings per acre. 8 x 8 is a good spacing because of lighting and fire control.
